

NHS Clinical Entrepreneurs Series

Hosted by

Supporting health professionals with a passion for innovation and entrepreneurship

Thursday 31 January 2019, 08:00 – 12:00
Surgeon's Quarter, Nicolson Street, Edinburgh, EH8 9DW

08:00 – 08:30	Registration and light breakfast
08:30 – 08:40	Welcome Graham Watson, Executive Chairman, Scottish Health Innovations Ltd (SHIL)
08:40 – 09:10	Innovation and Entrepreneurship – Where are we? A short icebreaker exercise will enable experiences of innovation and entrepreneurship to be shared with likeminded attendees; helping to share knowledge, build communities of support and understand opportunities and challenges in health innovation.
09:10 – 09:30	Developing and Supporting your Business Proposition Dr. Robert Rea, Head of Innovation, Scottish Health Innovations Ltd
09:30 – 09:50	Early Stage Innovation Through to Technical Feasibility Dr Scott Inglis, Clinical Scientist, Medical Physics, NHS Lothian
09:50 – 10:10	Early Stage Investment Barbara Blaney, Senior Incubation Manager, MediCity Scotland (tbc)
10:10 – 10:30	Networking and refreshments
10:30 – 10:50	Collaboration with Academia Fiona Mason, Leader of Business Engagement, Edinburgh Napier University (tbc)
10:50 – 11:10	Creating an NHS Start Up and Pursuing Commercialisation David Gow, Inventor, Touch Bionics / EMAS (tbc)
11:10 – 11:30	Developing a Product to Commercialisation Graeme Tydeman, Consultant in Obstetrics and Gynaecology, NHS Fife
11:30 – 11:50	Q&A session
11:50 – 12:00	Networking and refreshments

Register now: www.shil.co.uk/clinicalentrepreneurs

Programme may be subject to change. Stay up to date

www.shil.co.uk

@ScotHealthInno